

Meet Our Founder

Fred Harris is a UNM professor emeritus as well as a former U.S. Senator, former U.S. presidential candidate, the author of more than twenty books, and the former national chairperson of one of our country's two major political parties. He was also a member of one of the 20th century's foremost civil rights commissions, in addition to being a scholar who has advanced our understanding of politics and political science. But that's exactly what UNM students get to do as Fred Harris Interns.

Professor Harris founded the Fred Harris U.S. Congressional Internship in 2006 and served as Director and faculty until his retirement from UNM.

Click below to find out more about this dynamic scholar who is nationally respected for his commitment, intellectual passion, creative democratic vision, and fascinating personal story.

Fred Harris and the Kerner Commission

The National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders in session in Washington in 1967. Known as The Kerner Commission, after the chair, Otto Kerner, seated at the head of the table, the group was convened by President Lyndon Johnson in the wake of the 1967 race riots. Fred Harris is the second person to the right of Kerner. Underwood Archives/Getty Images

Source: NY Times

Former Oklahoma Senator and the Department of Political Science Internship founder, Fred Harris, was featured in The New York Times on February 28, 2018. In the article, Fred Harris recounts his time in the Kerner Commission, which was appointed by President Lyndon Johnson in 1967. Today, Harris is the lone survivor of the Commission.

“Headed by Governor Otto Kerner of Illinois, the 11-member commission was appointed by President Lyndon B. Johnson in July 1967 to uncover the causes of urban riots and recommend solutions. The report, which declared that “our nation is moving toward two societies, one black, one white—separate and unequal,” called for expanded aid to African American communities in order to prevent further racial violence and polarization.”

(Source)

Read the full NYT article here, please note this article is behind a paywall.

Fred Harris: the Senator, the Educator

Fred Harris and Vice President Hubert Humphrey--Source: Albuquerque Journal

"His influence is felt through the army of students he has educated, but also through his political activism." – Donna Olmstead, Albuquerque Journal

Read how Fred Harris continues to advocate for issues closest to his heart in the ABQ Journal.

The Department of Political Science was honored to have Fred Harris as the commencement speaker at the spring 2018 graduation convocation.

More articles, videos, and interviews with Fred Harris

NPR podcast interview:

“50 Years On, Sen. Fred Harris Remembers Great Hostility During 1967 Race Riots”

Listen or read the transcript on NPR's website.

New Mexico in Focus:

Episode 1127

“Fred Harris Revisited”

Watch here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=45NIMxkJwhg>

Encyclopedia Britannica:

“Fred Harris: American Politician, Educator, and Writer”

Read more about Harris’ career: <https://www.britannica.com/biography/Fred-Harris>