

Fall 2024 Global & US Democracy Lecture Series

The University of New Mexico's International Studies Institute & Department of Political Science invite you to a fall lecture series on Global and US Democracy.

Please see the schedule below and mark your calendars!

Thursday 9/26	Mark Peceny, PhD: Professor of Political Science, UNM "American Elections and Democracy and Dictatorship Around the World"
Thursday 10/03	Lorenzo Garcia, PhD: Associate Professor of Classical Literature, UNM "Democracy between Aristocracy and Tyranny: Three Moments in Early Greece"
Tuesday 10/15	Johanna Dunaway, PhD: Professor of Political Science, Syracuse University "News Access and Political Accountability"
Thursday 10/17	Stephen Bishop, PhD: Professor of French & Africana Studies, UNM "When France Voted Itself Out of Democracy. Twice."
Tuesday 10/22	Rafael Velázquez Flores, PhD: Mexico Studies Chair of the Fulbright Program at UNM "The US Election and the Impact on US-Mexican Relations"
Thursday 10/24	Gabriel Sanchez, PhD: Professor of Political Science, UNM "American Democracy in Peril?"
Tuesday 10/29	Loren Collingwood, PhD: Associate Professor of Political Science, UNM "Political Redistricting in the US"
Thursday 11/07	Kurt Weyland, PhD: Mike Hogg Professor, Department of Government UT, Austin "Why Do Populist Authoritarians Rarely Turn into Repressive Dictators?"
Tuesday 11/12	Melissa Bokovoy, PhD: Professor & Chair of History, UNM "Politicization of Memory and History in the Former Yugoslavia"
Thursday 11/14	Sarah Wilson Sokhey, PhD: Associate Professor of Political Science, CU Boulder "Democracy & Decentralization: How Participation Promotes Public Goods in Ukraine"
Thursday 11/21	Nimah Mazaheri, PhD: Associate Professor of Political Science, Tufts University "Women in Politics in the Middle East"

Ortega Hall Reading Room, 3rd Floor | 3:30p-4:30p